ABOUT BEN

Creative Sound Sculpture Designer & Interactive Music Facilitator

BIOGRAPHY

Ben has been designing and creating innovative sound sculptures and leading interactive music workshops for over 20 years. His work is inspired by pioneering artists and ensembles including Urban Strawberry Lunch, Bow Gamelan, Harry Partch, Stomp, Blue Man Group, The Baschet Brothers, and diverse world percussion traditions.

With a background in the arts and extensive experience in community music facilitation, Ben specialises in crafting unique instruments based on a wide range of idiophones, designed to encourage accessible, engaging and enjoyable music-making experiences for participants of all ages and abilities.

In addition to workshops and interventions, Ben designs and builds high-quality musical installations for public parks, schools and private gardens. His outdoor instruments combine durability, accessibility, visual beauty and harmonic musicality, creating inspiring spaces for creative play and collaborative performance.
